PROVISIONAL SPECIFICATION.

A New or Improved Medical Preparation for Human Use.

I, ARTHUR FAULKS, Chapel Street, Enderby, in the County of Leicester, Shoe Finisher, do hereby declare the nature of this invention to be as follows:—

This invention relates to a new or improved medical preparation for human use and is concocted more especially for the cure of what is known as “indigestion” and 5 analogous ailments.

To carry out my invention, I take about six ounces of each of the following herbs, viz. horehound, saxifrage, St. Johns-wort, sweet avens, rosemary and ragwort, one ounce of gentian root, half-an-ounce of each of the following seeds, 10 fennel, carraway and anise and the same quantity of cloves and peppercorns.

I then proceed to cut or otherwise reduce them to small particles and then put the whole or a portion into about five gallons of water and after the mixture has reached boiling point I allow it to simmer for about six hours, then after it has cooled it is ready for use.

I may find it desirable to slightly vary the proportions of the different 15 ingredients before mentioned or to leave out some entirely and substitute others, but the ingredients and proportions specified, I believe will have the most beneficial results.

Dated this 1st day of March 1895.
